

CLUB NEWS

Pet Photos with Santa

The Club will again sponsor Pet Photos with Santa December 4th and 5th. In addition to being one of the Club's major fund-raisers each year, this is one of the most enjoyable events to work. In past years we've had ducks, ferrets, cats, kids and lizards in addition to dogs! If you are interested in volunteering, contact Mona Sanneman at msannema@ptialaska.net or 586-9452.

Annual Christmas Party

The annual CKCOJ Christmas Party/Potluck will be held at Jill Grose's house December 18, 2 pm. Contact Jill for more information at mac@alaska.net or 789-3239.

Club Website -- new URL

One of my "other projects" is the club web site. I recently changed service providers and the new URL is:

<http://home.gci.net/~cstephens/ckcoj>

Also, I've set up an email account for Club correspondence: ckcoj@gci.net

Winter Classes

The winter training schedule has been set. Gaile Haynes will teach a Basic Obedience class. A team of instructors will teach a sub-novice class. In addition to classes, obedience practices will be available on Saturday and an agility practice will be available on Sundays at Mt. Jumbo. See registration form on page 7 for details or contact Jill Grose at mac@alaska.net or 789-3239.

Lost/Missing Items

Several Club-owned items have been missing for several months. Please check to see if you borrowed any of the following items and forgot to return them.

- Dog-a-Pult
- Smart Trainers, Brilliant Dogs by Janet Lewis (book)
- Photos from the March 1999 trial

- Santa suit (used for Pet Photos with Santa)

Contact Mona at masannema@ptialaska.net or 586-9452 if you have questions or information about these items.

New Meeting Location

Thanks to the efforts of Vice-President Dan King, the Mendenhall Mall has offered us free use of space in the Mall Annex for our monthly club meeting and possibly other club activities. In exchange, we have agreed to move items stored in the space to another area. Anyone interested in helping can meet us at the Mall Annex December 11, 2 pm. Contact Dan for more information at junodan@ptialaska.net or 586-1089.

Agility Trial

Our first agility trial is tentatively planned for April -- about 4 months from now. If you plan to compete, you will need to register your dog with NADAC, which can take a month or more. If you haven't already done so, send in your registration form(s), available on the NADAC website (<http://www.nadac.com/home.htm>). If you don't have access to the web, contact Jill Grose at mac@alaska.net or 789-3239.

Club Membership List

An updated membership list is included in this newsletter on page 6. Please notify Camille (780-4538 or cstephens@gci.net) if you find an error in your listing.

MAKE NO BONES

By Gabrielle LaRoche

Last month I reported on the goals for the coming year. Not surprisingly, all depend on increasing volunteerism among an ad hoc committee met to review existing procedures for recognizing volunteer efforts and explore options for improvement. Their findings were reported to the Board at the November meeting. As a result, the Board took two important steps to forward this initiative. Your comments are requested on the second.

First, the Board established an Awards Committee to be chaired by Perry Shipman, Member-at-Large. The new Awards committee is charged with ensuring that volunteer coordinators for events, seminars, trials and other above-and-beyond-the-call efforts are consistently and timely recognized while maintaining a sense of spontaneity and personal touch.

Second, the Board conceptually approved a formal or standardized reward system - DDIG, or "Doggie Dollar Incentive Give-away". It is on DDIG that member comment is being solicited. The good thing about DDIG is that it simple. By setting up a standardized reward system administration is minimized. The bad thing about DDIG is that it is simple. DDIG does not, nor is it

"Recognition for work well done motivates and inspires most people, but it is absolutely essential for volunteers. Even the most humble volunteer wants to know that they made a difference, which is why every plan for volunteer involvement must include a reward and recognition system. If you're not getting the involvement you need, it probably means that you need to review your current system, and develop more creative meaningful methods of recognition. There are two approaches you can use — informal and formal"

from Elements of An Effective Reward and Recognition Program, Sept. 19,1994; Canadian Fund Raiser intended to fully reimburse all volunteer efforts. It is intended to be one tool to inspire and encourage volunteerism. It must be considered in conjunction with the Awards Committee that will recognize a broad spectrum of volunteer accomplishments.

The DDIG Proposal

Doggie dollars will be awarded per class or event, not per hour, according to an approved schedule. At the start, doggie dollars can be used toward the purchase of memberships, practices, classes and premier items. After review of price structure, seminars and logo clothing could be added to the list. (The committee noted that a comprehensive review of our pricing/accounting for all activities should ensure that activities include the cost of awarding doggie dollars). Doggie dollars will replace the existing method of rewarding volunteer instructors and assistants, but will award dollars roughly equivalent to the current discount offered toward practices. Doggie dollars are transferable and have no expiration date.

The DDIG Schedule

- Instructing or Assisting = $20
- Practice Facilitator = $3/session
- Ring Stewards = $5/day
- Trial set-up/take-down = $5/trial
- Pet Festival & Photos w/Santa = $5/day

The Board is expected to take formal action on this proposal at the December 16th meeting. Please e-mail your comments to ckcoj@gci.net, call me at 364-3695, or plan to attend the next Board meeting December 16.

2. Training—Jill has had inquiries and drop-ins for the second hour of practice on Saturdays at Mt. Jumbo Gym. In the future, its suggested that we have a facilitated practice scheduled separately from training sessions. A registration form will be included in the newsletter for the next session of practices. Gaile will start basic classes January 9th. She requests that Jill reserve Gruening Park. The two agility classes are going well and making money. Gabrielle gave Jill a list of inquiries. Perry commented that the ongoing ad in the Juneau Empire may be helping. We are looking for a teacher for a possible December 3rd class.

1. Newsletter/Website—Susan moved that after the October newsletter, members who have not paid their membership will receive a reminder postcard in lieu of a newsletter. Perry seconded the motion; unanimous approval. Mona suggested looking into a bulk rate. Gabrielle suggested selling business card size ads in the newsletter. Camille and Gabrielle will look into a pricing structure for businesses vs. personal classified ads. Camille moved the Web site to GCI. New business cards have been printed and will be distributed.

2. Historian—Mona would like to know about the March 1999 pictures of the trial. Alexis took care of it. Mona is also trying to locate the old photo albums. Mona suggested a lost and found in the newsletter. Mona plans on documenting all events sequentially.

Old Business

1. Pet Photos—Mona showed the card for the pet photos which she has in stock. Perry cautioned about bulk buying film. Mona is in charge of Pet Photo coordination. She is distributing flyers to make the public aware of this event. The location is the Mendenhall Mall, west end. Dates are December 4-5; hours are 1-6 on the 4th and 12:00-5:00 on the 5th.

2. Volunteerism/Increasing Member participation—Gabrielle summarized the small group's meetings in which options were explored to recognize volunteer efforts, raise morale of existing volunteers, and encourage participation by both new and ongoing members. The proposal is to replace discounts with

3. Mendenhall Mall Space—They have offered us space for our meeting every third Thursday at no charge. Jill asked them about using their space for practices, however, a drama group is currently using for practice. Saturday, December 11th, 2:00 PM is tentatively scheduled to clean up the space. Need volunteers—put in the newsletter. There is a possibility we may be able to get into the bigger space in time for future obedience classes.

4. New Member Packet—Etiquette list, constitution and policies, welcoming letter, membership list was in the original package. We should also include a back issue of the newsletter. The welcome letter needs to be updated. Include the brochure, business card, and possibly a library list. The secretary is in charge of sending out. Note to Secretary: We have an account at Copyworks. Use our tax exempt number and write what is being xeroxed to help the treasurer.

5. CKCOJ Logo Clothing—Dan attempted to meet with Galligaskin's, but they were not in. We will get a copy of their catalog for the next meeting. Rod Swope is the owner.

TALA'S TALES

Written by Susan Rasmussen

This is my first in a series of articles dedicated to the art of showing your dog in the breed ring. The column is aptly named after the first dog I completely finished a Championship in both the AKC & CKC by myself. Tala has taught me so much and I know will continue to teach me many more things as we move through our time together.

For those who don't know me I will tell you a little about my life with dogs. I acquired my first Belgian Sheepdog in 1972. After Hudson died I owned a Golden Retriever named T-Bone. Both dogs were pets. After he went to the bridge, I decided to get a Belgian Sheepdog puppy to show in the breed ring. In December 1991 Kadar came bouncing out of his kennel and I eventually joined the CKCOJ. Kadar finished both his AKC & CKC Championships with the help of both Rebecca Brandon & Sherry Sims. In January 1994 Tala arrived and 3 years later came Rico our Schipperke who finished both his Championships this past summer. So you might say, I've been actively showing dogs for 8 years.

Most of what will be written is a compilation of things I have learned from books, seminars, learning from working with my own dogs, observing others training their dogs and growing with each new experience. I have also been extremely fortunate to find some individuals who have become my friends and mentors along the way. Without people like Pam Webb, Nellie Oldaker and Rebecca Brandon I would not be writing this article today.

Presuming you have already purchased a show quality pup, the first thing you will want to do is start table training. It doesn't matter whether or not you own a small or large breed. Most all show dogs will need to be put on the table either for showing and/or grooming. It is best that the pup learn to be comfortable on the table from the very beginning.

The best way to start table training a pup is to feed all meals to her on the table and make it lots of fun. This way she will look forward to her time on the table. It is important during this time that nothing is done to shake her confidence. Never leave the pup unattended and do not let the pup jump off the table.

While the pup is very small it is time to start teaching her how to stack or pose for the breed ring and the judges exam. It is important to have as many people as possible go over the pup while still making it lots of fun and rewarding. Before any formal exams begin it is best to have first familiar people treat and play with the pup on the table. Then introduce strangers while still making it lots of fun.

Once you feel that the pup is ready for more formal training, it is time to begin taking just a few minutes each day to teach the pup how to stand/stay as well as checking her bite. The time should be very short and positive. Don't forget that your pup has a very short attention span. Start by putting your pup on the table. Tell her stand/stay. Keeping the dog on your left side, grasp her collar with your right hand with the head at the proper level and reach over with your left hand to the dogs left elbow to place the foot in the desired position. If your dog will not hold her foot where you placed it take hold of her muzzle with your right hand and gently turn her head to the right. You now have your dog slightly off balance and will find it much easier to place the left foot where you want. As soon as the foot is firmly on the ground return her head to the forward position. Replace your right hand on the collar with your left. Place your right hand on the dog's right elbow and repeat. This time turn the dog's head to the left with the left hand. With the right hand again on the collar, run your left hand all the way down her back, while using the words stand/stay in a calm, quiet voice so that your dog will understand that it is you touching her at the hind quarter and not something strange attacking her from the rear.

Continue with your left hand running down the left rear leg until you reach the hock. With the hock in hand, now set the leg to the correct position.

Still with your left hand, place it with the palm facing the rear area of the tibia or midway on the right hind leg and set the right hind foot. At this time you may want to bend the hock to the outside while setting the foot so that the hock faces to the rear. Recheck the left hock and foot and reset if needed.

With the rear in place, return to the front to be sure it is in correct position as your dog may move a front leg to maintain balance while you are setting the rear.

Do this once. Tell her "good girl" treat and release. Do this one more time and quit. Make each subsequent session a little bit longer until she starts to understand what is expected of her and she will start free-stacking on her own.

Next time we will discuss stacking and baiting.

#12. Much discussion on #4, seminar, and #10, curriculum design. #4, 7, 9, and 10 are unassigned. Dan does not feel it is necessary to prioritize, instead review quarterly. Perry moved that we bring the goals up on a quarterly basis, Dan seconded, unanimous approval.

2. Revisions to membership application – Camille would like to be notified by new members if they have email, and if they want their address/email information posted on the website. Camille will update the membership application

3. Membership Drive – Gabrielle talked to the Board about this last spring about purchasing a list from the GHS of all the licensed dogs in town. Jill suggested we invite people to the agility trials to see what the club does. Susan suggested a calendar of events.

4. Tiered Membership – Gabrielle presented the possibility of a varied rate structure in which money over basic membership costs can be dedicated to specific club events.

5. Ring Mats/Agility Jump Purchases – Jill reported she is having a jump building party at her house on November 27th. We need a dozen jumps in order to have a NADAC trial. Perry motions that we build these jumps, reimburse Jill, not to exceed $350; Dan seconded, all approved. Jill requested the club purchase two 20 foot tunnels. She will come back to the club for authorization at a later date. Gabrielle received an email in regards the purchase of ring mats. We could ship ring mats with Wee Fishie to save on shipping costs. We will need more mats if we put on two trials. Gabrielle will inventory the mats and come back to the Board with a list of needs.

6. E-mail communications/onelist, etc. – Gabrielle would like to find an efficient way to communicate with people., Camille has researched other options in which the moderator sends information, but others cannot post a response. Perry requested clarification on the needs for a bulletin board vs. a one-list. The one-way list is to supplement the newsletter between publications. The board agreed to try a new “egroup” for club communications. Camille will set up ckcoj-ANNOUNCE@egroups.com. Account for the board. She will also modify the membership form to obtain permission to sign up new members.

Next Meeting Date/Location-Mendenhall Mall Annex at 6:30 P.M.

Adjournment – Susan moved to adjourn; Perry seconded; unanimous consent at 9:20 P.M.

Chocolate Toxicity in Dogs

Theobromine (from the Latin name for the cacao plant, Theobroma cacao) is the ingredient in chocolate that is toxic to dogs. It is similar to caffeine in its chemical makeup and occurs naturally in cocoa beans and in all chocolate products.

The amount of theobromine in the finished product depends on the type of chocolate used and the serving size. Milk chocolate contains less theobromine than semi-sweet or dark chocolate. Theobromine has a mild diuretic action (increases urine production) similar to caffeine, but does not stimulate the central nervous system like caffeine.

In domestic animals, especially dogs, chocolate may harm the heart, kidneys and central nervous system. This is because dogs metabolize theobromine, a naturally occurring substance in chocolate, very slowly. The effect of theobromine on dogs and some other pets is serious.

For a 50 pound dog, a toxic dose is about 2.2 grams (2200 mg) of pure chocolate. However, the concentration of theobromine varies with the type of chocolate. Milk chocolate contains about 44mg/oz, making the toxic dose for a 50 lb approximately 50 oz. Darker chocolates contain more theobromine. Baking chocolate has the highest concentration at 390mg/oz, making the toxic dose for a 50 lb dog about 5oz. If you have a smaller dog the toxic dose is proportionally less.

The problem with feeding a dog even the milder forms of chocolate as a treat is that it develops a liking for chocolate. Since dogs do not seem to be as sensitive to bitter tastes as humans - it may then eat the more concentrated, and thus quite toxic, baker's chocolate if it gets a chance or it will consume a toxic amount of milk or semi-sweet chocolate if it can get into a improperly stored supply.

Keep all chocolate stored so that your dogs cannot get to it. If you suspect your dog has eaten chocolate, call your veterinarian for advice.

Are Your Pets Y2K Ready?

While it's unlikely that the “Y2K bug” have a major impact on us here in Juneau, we may be affected by problems experienced in other parts of the U.S. or the world. Please include your pets in your plans to protect your homes and families. At a minimum, be sure you have an adequate supply of food, medications or other supplies that may not be readily available to disruptions in freight transport systems. For more information on pets and disaster emergencies, visit the Federal Emergency Management Agency (FEMA) website at <http://www.fema.gov/fema/petsf.htm>.
